Pope on All Saints Day: Beatitudes, the path to holiness in daily life - Pope urged us to seek holiness not by accomplishing extraordinary things but by following the path of the Beatitudes without half measures in everyday life.

Belonging to heaven or earth? In this regard, the Pope urged for an examination of conscience, whether we are on the side of heaven or of earth, whether we live for the Lord or for ourselves, for eternal happiness or for some gratification now. "It is good for us to let ourselves be provoked by the saints, who never had half measures here on earth and who from there above "cheer" us, so that we choose God, humility, meekness, mercy and purity, because we are impassioned about heaven rather than earth. The Pope also reminded that on Friday, November 2, All Souls Day, the day of supplication for those who have preceded us in the sign of faith and sleep the sleep of peace," Let's pray for all souls, especially those who have no one to pray.
